CARRANZA MAY BID FOR U. S. RECOGNITION BY TAKING CAPITAL

Southern Commander Preparing Assault on Mexico City in Effort to Gain Support of Wilson Administration.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A new rebellion against the Carranzista Government was reported to the State Department today from the territory of Quintana, where the Governor General, Garciloro, with headquarters at Santa Cruz de Bravo, has renounced his allegiance to Carranza. He has not yet made any advance against Yucatan, the nearest loyal territory.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—General Venustiano Carranza will make a formal bid for recognition by the United States in reply to the new policy emanated by President Wilson in his proclamation on the Mexican situation. General Carranza, it is understood, proposes to make the bid for recognition by the immediate capture of Mexico City, the restoration of order in the capital and the establishment of a constitutional government, with himself as Provisional President.

It is reported from Vera Cruz that Carranza's note at all regarding the note as an unwarranted interference into the domestic affairs of Mexico and an unjustified meddling with her independence. Carranza asserts here that the readiness of General Villa to submit to an agreement on a basis laid down by the American Government is but an indication of the fact that Villa realized the inevitable defeat which he is facing at the hands of the Carranza forces under Alvaro Obregon, and that only in a union of all factions in Mexico, as suggested by the President, can he retain at least a measure of the power and control which he desires.

Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz, reported that he had laid the President's statement before Carranza, and the Brazilian Minister at Mexico City made the same report with regard to Garza, provisional president in the government set up there by Villa.

With the moving of food for the starving into Mexico within the next few days, it is expected the danger point in President Wilson's relief policy will be reached. In the past the factional chiefs have commandeered from such supplies what they wished for themselves. Now they have been warned by the President that the hungry are to be fed, and if they interfere with the work of the Red Cross they will precipitate American action.

Consular officials all along the border are co-operating with the Red Cross. The latter has started an agent for Mexico. He will establish headquarters in Mexico City and at such other points as he deems necessary. Special Red Cross committees are at work in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans and Galveston.

FOREIGNERS IN EXODUS
Anticipating trouble as the result of President Wilson's abandonment of "watchful waiting" in Mexico, British authorities in Mexico City are adopting extraordinary methods to get English subjects out of the capital and to the seacoast.

It was learned today that one of the things Duval West, the President's latest representative to visit Mexico, was commissioned to do was to get a personal expression from each chieftain concerning what he was fighting for. All agreed on the same basic facts. "They all told me," West's report to the President says, "that they were fighting to restore constitutional government in Mexico and to put into effect the ideals that Francisco Madero created—equal justice to all and a distribution of the enormous private land holdings among the people."

EL PASO, Tex., June 4.—A copy of President Wilson's message to Mexico is now in the hands of General Villa, leader of the Constitutionalists in northern Mexico. The copy was handed to General Villa at his headquarters south of Leon by George C. Carothers, special agent of the State Department.

The following telegram was received from General Villa today: "Senor Carothers arrived at my headquarters tonight and presented me with a copy of President Wilson's note. I sincerely hope that there will be no misunderstanding nor any friction between the United States and the Government I represent. I am not yet ready to give any opinion as to what my answer will be until I have consulted with my cabinet. First, I am a Mexican patriot; second, I am a friend of the American people."

BAGGAGE VALUATION LAW GREAT HARDSHIP

New Regulation Adds to Expense and Inconvenience to Travelers.

The Cummins amendment with reference to baggage valuation to the interstate commerce act has been in effect two days. Hundreds of persons in Philadelphia and in the country at large, under the provisions of the amendment, have been forced to sign a blank stating whether or not the baggage they are checking is valued at $100 or in excess of that amount. In the latter case they have had to pay 10 cents for each additional $100 of valuation.

Travelers everywhere are wondering just what is the purpose of the act and what is accomplished by it, other than a tremendous amount of inconvenience for the traveling public.

According to the authorities of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a route number of 5,000,000 pieces of baggage were handled the last year on their lines east of Pittsburgh.

From this large amount the company was required to pay not more than $100 in claims for lost or stolen articles. In addition, for damage to checked pieces, the company had to pay a sum the exact amount of which was not possible to ascertain, but which was pronounced as "very much smaller than would generally be supposed."

The disadvantage and additional expense imposed on the railroad by the new law are not very great. There is a tremendous amount of additional bookkeeping involved but this is very nearly offset by the saving in the cost of investigation and litigation over questionable claims. There can be no question over claims under the new regulation. The value is written out over the signature of the owner or checker of the baggage.

The advantage accruing to the railroads under the act is a profit the extent of which can hardly be estimated at this time from the income derived from the involuntary insurance passengers are now forced to carry. That is to say, those checking baggage must pay a high rate for protection against a risk so small that it may be said not to exist. And passengers are subjected to a tremendous waste of time such as would be consumed in the signing a name $50,000 times.

It is still cheaper, however, to check baggage on a railroad ticket than to express it in the majority of instances. The express companies require an insurance fee of 10 cents per $100 for a valuation over $50.

WILSON MOVED TO ACT BY HUERTA SCHEME, IS REPORT
WASHINGTON, June 4.—It is rumored here today that the abandonment of the policy of "watchful waiting" by President Wilson in regard to the Mexican question was precipitated by the discovery by agents of the Government of a complete plan of Victoriano Huerta, former dictator of Mexico, to return to his country and lead a revolt, with the purpose of placing himself in power and recapturing the presidency of the republic. General Huerta is at present enjoying the hospitality of the United States and is living on Long Island.

On his arrival here from Spain, whether he had gone after his elimination from Mexican affairs by the successful Villa-Carranza revolution, General Huerta denied that he returned to America with the idea of again taking a hand in the Mexican situation. Since then he has been watched closely by agents of the United States Government, and it is said by these agents of another coup d'etat planned by Huerta, it is said that prompted President Wilson to call a halt on the factional struggles in Mexico.
